

Riding the wave

Can't just label it a simple cry for freedom
Stone cold survival getting high while going down

Being young and knocked down upon arrival
The king no crown
Does it matter where you're coming from?

You ride

How to handle realizing falling behind
Nature nurture
To study gives a right to be

Laying down being scared for the future
'cause they might see
A proper place an empty mind

You ride

A few months the waves are rolling in
A lot of good things have been happening
Not always fully understand
You've stopped setting things on fire

Start to study the alarm at five Minutes make you set the gear to drive
Make sure you've got a helping hand
And you will get where you desire

You ride

©These People

--- All words and music are written by These People ---