

Sleep caught me

Eyelids are getting thicker, thoughts are a blur They're wondering of to where I'm not sure
In the meanwhile limbs starting to feel like butter
And trying to run makes me feel insecure

Sleep caught me lying down,
Sleep caught me lying down, down, down,
Resting my eyes

feeling my heartbeat soften, it's sound goes astray thoughts in my head forming their own play and the mumbling noises outside seem to be thinner then the voices telling me to start floating away

Sleep caught me lying down,
Sleep caught me lying down, down, down,
Resting my eyes